To prepare for a good year, Chad Billingsley and Ashley Hanneken get their act together in yearbook room so that everything adds up.

What is the point of...
playing sports?
going to school?
having friends?
going to dances?
having Homecoming events?

Everyone asks: "What's the point?" Well, what brings people out to sporting events? That's a toughie and not one we usually think about. But traditionally speaking, we come out to cheer on our friends and classmates.

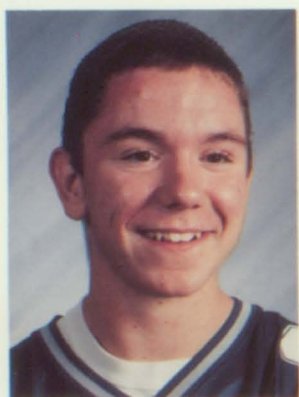

You hear people say we don't like being here, but besides the law, we are here because of our friends we might not see any other place. It doesn't take a rocket scientist to figure out why people need friends. Friends make us realize how to live life to the fullest. Yeah, it sounds fruity, but it's true.

Hey, it is time to go to a school dance and do the Macerenia or the Duck Dance or the Electric Slide or any of the many dance raves that have hit the nation. And how would you like to see a live performance of America's Funniest Home Videos? Then check out our Homecoming events like the three-legged race, tug-of-war, wheelbarrow race or relays. All have as many bumps, kicks, screams and people falling on their faces that your sides can take.

For the more elegant, try Coronation with its pretty dresses, banquet and Royal Ball. Nothing but the best for our Queen and Maids! Now you can never say "What's the point?" 'cauz you know.

Big Sisters is an organization made up of junior and senior girls. The point is to keep younger kids out of trouble and off the streets by giving them alternative activities. The group raises money by having events such as Bow Tie Day and the King of Hearts election. The money raised goes to organizations such as the Joan Sands Memorial Fund and to buy presents for the children at the Oasis Children's Center. The students donate much time and energy to this activity.

ALPHA students serve as role models for students at Lewis and Clark Junior High School. Working in teams of three, the group presents the positive ALPHA program to the junior high students once a week for two months. They speak to students about having fun without the use of drugs or alcohol. The point is that the ALPHA program has proven to be a valuable community service.

The students in the National Honor Society are selected by the faculty who consider the qualities of leadership, character, citizenship and service displayed by the students. Students considered are from the junior and senior classes. To be selected, students must maintain a 3.5 or higher grade point average. The National Honor Society represents the student body and helps promote leadership and understanding of school functions. Mr. Yearwood sponsors the organization. What's the point? These students do not arrive in this organization with a "ho-hum" attitude; it takes work.

The point is...Participation is worth it!

The yearbook staff dedicates much time and effort to produce the Oiler for the student body, faculty and staff so all may have a book of memories to look at and enjoy in the years to come. Each yearbook staff member has an important and specific job. Working together under the direction of Adviser Marion Strohman, the final product takes from August to June to produce. Adviser Marion Strohman and staff members Chad Billingsley and Jacquelyn Colbert attended the Herff Jones training workshop at the University of Missouri/ St. Louis in September.

COLOPHON

The 1999 Oiler yearbook was printed by Herff Jones at its plant in Marceline, Missouri. Press run was 340 copies. The Antique White Vibra Tex cover was silkscreened in maroon and gold foil was applied. The endsheet was gold. Cover art was designed by Ashley Hanneken. Pages were done on an IBM computer using PageMaker 5.0 and the Herff Jones PageMaster and TypeMaster templates. Fonts used included Courier New, L u c i d a Blackletter, Chalkdust and High Voltage. Pages were printed on 80# Bordeaux high gloss paper. The senior portraits and student life sections were printed in color. The Oiler was delivered in spring.
