East Alton-Wood River Community High School Wood River, Illinois

PROLOGUE

HEN we—like the leaves which adventure forth in Autumn from their mother tree—have been graduated and entered upon a new epoch—it is our hope that this book will reawaken happy and poignant memories of the days of 1929 and 1930.

THE STAFF.

To Miss Davis and Mr. Hussong, our loyal and helpful sponsors, but most of all—our friends, we, the Senior Class, dedicate the eighth annual volume of "The Echo."

To Teachers

DTHe ECHO

I've brought to you the molten treasure Of my mind to cast and mold into some currency Of greater worth. I've bound the wandering ways of youth Down to the hard conformity of books. I set my eyes upon the words of Greece and Rome To cipher out the cadences of song that gave To all the world a flowering lyric heritage. I learn the myths of Nordic gods and strive to find A door to high Valhalla. Euclid's magic mixes with the poetry that cries A want of one dark lady's love. But you have promised thus: One day this metal That you pour all base and crude into the crucible Of study, shall come forth a precious, glittering coinage, A loveliness and satisfaction within your weary hands. Well, mark you this, I've trusted you, My youth and faith are yours; I keep the pact. See to it that you've told the truth.

SHERMAN CONRAD.

"If A Tree Could Talk"

I'm just a poplar
Four years old
Perhaps I'm curious
Yet not bold
Within my heart
Great things I hold
Of the Senior Class of '30.

Yes, I remember them September 1, 1926 a young army strong! They were cute little mites. I heard some of the upper classmen call them "green" but I couldn't understand that. To me they seemed to be little bodies of great possibilities and I have not been disappointed.

I shall never forget that first year. It was full of excitement for the class I called "mine." I have never seen a class enjoy weiner roasts more—and parties—well, I decided here was "pep" if you'd ever find it anywhere.

The Sophomore year was different. Some men came during the summer and began building on an addition to the High School. Such noise! I had to strain to catch whispers of activities within. There were six new teachers, two of whom helped to sponsor "my" class, "Plucky Pirates" they called themselves and a better name could not be found. My class had lost some of its shyness and that suppressed pep burst forth in a hundred different ways. "My" class was the first to suggest a party, the first to attempt an orchestra, the first successfully to hypnotize—but there I promised not to mention that—, at any rate they were leaders in everything worthwhile.

Junior year brought more changes—a new principal and five new teachers; some of my class did not return or dropped out before the year was spent. I wondered about this for a time: would my class hold up the banner. Doubt was soon dispelled when I saw them selling magazines, pencils, hot dogs, or anything else that would add to a fund for one of the loveliest Banquets at the Alton Country Club you can imagine. From the comments I heard I know it was a success in originality and enjoyment. Again "my" class had scored.

Senior Year! More pencils to sell, more magazines. I wondered "what for" this time. I heard talk of Engravers, Printers, Photographers, Central, Sid Whiting, Frederick, proofs, paste ups, adds, covers and inserts. What was going on? The Echo of course! Editor says 400 words is the limit. Farewell dear class, good luck!

"We are the gay Cavaliers"—In that great year of grace, one thousand nine hundred twenty seven, twenty-three ladies and knights, young and dashing, bravely entered the Province of Education and settled themselves in the Castle Community. The first season brought little beyond the preliminary training as pages, and it was not until their second year, the period of squiredom, that they entered, in part, into the activities of the nobility. Those were the brave days of Honor Roll, and Cavaliers regularly headed the lists. Ladies Towey, Henson, Adkisson, and Witthofft were accorded that privilege most frequently.

Members of this brave band made frequent sallies into other lands—Lady Belcher and Lord Witthofft as members of the Royal Orchestra and Band, and Lady Monken who captivated the judges of the district meet by her sweet soprano voice. Lord Witthofft, together with the Duke of Duffey, defended the honor of the Castle in many pitched battles in the athletic lists and wore with great distinction the emblem of their victories. Thus, the activities afield.

In the gentler arts the Cavaliers were not lacking, giving of their time and interest to such clubs as were a part of the activities in the Castle Community. The Earl of Wedig served nobly as "Scriba" of the Latin Club and as Jester for the Echo, while the Viscount of Scarborough embellished that manuscript with pictures wonderful to behold.

During the third year of their stay, the first year of their knighthood, the Cavaliers were singularly honored. The proclamation had gone forth that all the beautiful ladies should be proclaimed by their faithful knights and that a tournament should be held to determine the one most gracious and fair, she to be heralded as "Queen of the Harvest." To the Cavaliers fell the honor of conducting the tournament with propriety and to the beautiful Duchess of Duval and the winsome Lady Towey came the distinction of being named as the first and fourth of the maids of honor. The Duchess of Duval was again, first maid of honor, in the next year, festival of love and beauty.

Under the guidance of High Chamberlain Buscher many other social festivities were celebrated. The list reached its climax in that great affair of January 21, 1930—the reception for the Seniors who were so soon to depart for the Great Crusade. All was merry and gay. The lovely ladies, each a vision of beauty in long, frilly garb, were escorted by their faithful knights, handsome and true. Dancing to the measure of gay music, playing games of skill and wit, listening to the diverting entertainment provided by the minstrels of song, and partaking of the buffet luncheon which filled the festive board, all served to make the evening pass but too quickly and to bring the time of departure. Then each brave knight mounted his champing charger and rode as escort for his favorite lady being carried home in her sedan chair.

Thus, endeth the story of the Cavaliers, the record of their final year in the Castle Community in the Province of Education being, as yet, not transcribed.

MISS MARTIN, MISS LLOYD

We, as Juniors, gaze back on our high school career with a feeling akin to satisfaction. We are sure that the school has not suffered very much from our coming.

Our Freshman year was not very different from that of other groups. The class was then divided into three home rooms, sponsored by Miss Darling, Miss Lloyd, and Miss Creek. We had the usual Freshman parties and weiner roasts. Lottie Giles made our class known by winning the scholarship cup. Ignatius Walters put us on the sport calendar by starring in baseball.

When our Sophomore year rolled around, the three home rooms were merged into one, sponsored by Miss Darling and Miss Lloyd. The book report contest was won by Ula Clayton. When June the fifteenth came into view, we were proud to call ourselves upper classmen.

And now, we are Juniors and a very gay bunch, too. Our school activities were opened by a weiner roast enjoyed by all. Norman Williams was captain of the football team, of which Glenwood Kiel was also a member. Book Report Contest was again won by Ula Clayton. Our class has a good representation in the high school orchestra. Lou Nelle Miller and Elmer Curry are violinists, while Robert Rothen and Vincent Filardo play the flute and drum, respectively. Glenwood Kiel, Landon Rhodes, Norman Williams, and Dale Hayes received their basketball letters with due honors. In the Dramatic Contest, our class was represented by Ruth LaTempt. In the commercial contests Wanda Coultes and Joe Magurany were members of the typing team, and Mildred Weber and Ula Clayton were members of the shorthand team.

Our Junior Night program was a great success, or at least that is what we have been told. All the class participated. There were four parts to our program. "Do You Believe in Luck?", "The Worm Turns," "On The Way Home," and "The Old Magazine," were the numbers given. They were filled with humor and enjoyment. The Girls' Chorus sang two songs and the orchestra played. Robert Rothen played a flute solo.

On March 31, we Juniors had one of the nicest class parties of our career. The evening's entertainment was in keeping with All Fool's Day, and delicious refreshments were served in abundance.

The most brilliant event in our social life looms in the near future—that evening when we shall have the Senior Class as our guests. We hope that the Junior-Senior Reception this year will be truly outstanding and an honor to the graduating class.

When this class first entered Community High its members numbered thirty-two. Now, although we have lost quite a few of our original members through natural or migratory causes and such unnatural causes as flunking, still we have gained others and at present have thirty-six members.

Pleasant memories of our first semester with Miss Ruch as our sponsor remain with us yet. A Valentine party given by the Student Council, weiner roasts, and class parties furnished our social diversion. During the summer vacation we strutted about in hopes that our friends could tell we were high school students.

In the fall Mr. Bell became our sponsor for that year and the novelty of high school having somewhat worn away we entered into the various activities with might and main. One of our members won the book contest for freshmen, another was the first Queen of the Harvest, and others were prominent in athletic, musical, and club lines. An outstanding social affair of the year was a Bunco party given us by Mr. Bell at his home.

As finishing sophomores and juniors we had as our sponsor Miss Walker. If our high school course were longer, we would probably have still a greater variety of Home Room teachers, but variety is the spice of life. The words of the old song "In junior year we take our ease" are not very applicable in our case. Aside from our regular class room activities, Roberta Johnson and Harold Parks have been active in the orchestra. Roberta also won the book contest for sophomores last semester. Our boys have been interested in various sports and while not always in the front ranks have contributed as best they could. Jim Searcy, Don Canaday, and Walter Rieke were our warriors on the football field while Lavier Humphrey has participated both in football and track. Charles Mize is interested in basketball, and R. Eckman in tennis, and William Phillips in track. Courtney Ford is interested both in football and basketball. In commercial work Dorothy Corrigan won individual honors for speed and accuracy in the commercial district meet at Alton.

Our old haunts on Piasa and Indian Creek were revisited for weiner roasts and on Washington's birthday a class party was given in the high school cafeteria. These constitute most of our social affairs for this year. Next semester we will conclude our junior year and we are looking forward to it now and expect it to be the best and the busiest one we have ever known.

Another goal is reached; we are now "Sophisticated Sophomores!" A short time ago—so it seems—we were "Freshies."

We enrolled in September, 1928, under the directions of our new principal, Mr. Stadtman. The Misses Poos, Hart, Calvert, and Schroeder were appointed our sponsors. Now we have but two—Miss Hicks and Miss Frohardt.

When we enrolled there were one hundred and thirty-five of us, the largest class ever to enter our high school. This number has diminished to about fifty.

Our Freshman year was exciting, as all are, but our Sophomore year has been even more so. We have had a Valentine party and several weiner roasts this semester. We are now striving toward our next goal and looking forward to the time when we can be called Juniors.

Behold! Our freshman days have passed away and we are now Sophomores. No more can they shout "Green Freshies" at us. Still we hold our freshman year as a bright spot in our lives, for it was during that time we learned to love our own Community High.

In the school activities, the sophomores take a great interest, having active members in the Orchestra and Latin Club. Our representatives in speaking were Evelyn Guker and Dorothy Gerson, who took part in the literary contests and did creditable work. At the same time we are not behind any of the classes in scholastic standing as many of our members through honest labor have attained high averages.

With the help of our sponsors Mr. Gossard and Mr. Fulton, who took the place of Mr. Haskins, in commendable manner, we hope that our future is destined to be even greater than our past.

MR. BARTON, MR. HOPPER, MISS HOFFMAN

Upon a windy day in September the breeze blew one hundred and thirty-one "Sand Burrs" into the E. A.W. R. Community High.

During the first week of our career in High School we visited the auditorium very frequently receiving instructions concerning our class room and courses of study from Mr. Stadtman. Thus we were introduced into the realms of English, Algebra, Physiology, and Latin.

We were overjoyed when "Salty," made his first touchdown at the Home-Coming game. During this celebration one of our girls, Aileen Marks became maid of honor for the Harvest Queen. We were not given much attention until our "Little but Mighty Philip," became cheer leader. Number five on the basketball team frequently came to our rescue by scoring his usual two points. Again our great athlete came back to us and placed us third in the inter-class track meet.

The "Freshies" may be "green" but they appear to be very musical. They have two distinct members in the beginners' orchestra, Frances Potter, and Virginia Eckman. We also have a journalist among us, Grace Ann Cottrell, who has placed several times in contests that she has entered.

But now we must come to a close. As our thoughts travel on into the second year of our career we have visions of accomplishments which we will record when we have reached our goal.

Since the entrance of the 1-1 Freshmen in February 1930, we have fortunately kept together quite well, although we have had all of the bewildering experiences that come to a Freshman. Within our brief history as a High School Class we have lost eight of our original members, but we are yet forty strong.

We are grateful to Berland Paul for bringing our class its first honor. He represented our school in the oratorical contest and then placed third in the district oratorical contest.

Few of us have received failing grades thus far. We are trying to be faithful to our class and to our school so that we can retain a good record.

Our Coaches

COACH HAL BARTON

Mr. Barton came to our school in September, 1929, from University of Illinois where he had been coach of the Freshman football team. Mr. Barton now has full charge of athletics and physical training in our school. Since Coach "Hal" has come to Wood River much enthusiasm has been aroused in the athletic department.

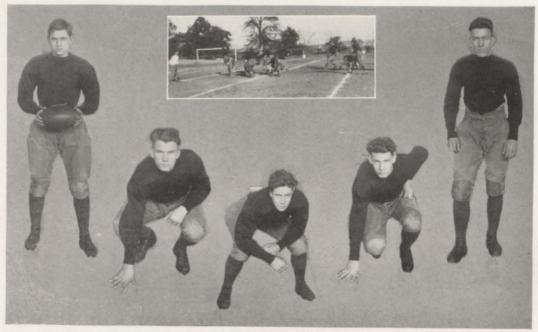

COACH JACK HASKINS

COACH JOHN GOSSARD

Mr. Haskins came to Wood River in September, 1929, from Benld, where he had been coach of athletics for some time. Mr. Haskins served as assistant coach under Mr. Barton and had charge of the second string men.

Mr. Gossard served as Baseball director in 1929 and for the last three years has had charge of Intramural Basketball. Mr. Gossard has rendered invaluable services to the welfare of athletics in our school for the last few years.

The football candidates were greeted by a new coaching staff composed of Barton, head coach, Haskin and Gossard, assistants. The new coaches instilled a trying and fighting spirit into the boys from the start. Great interest has been taken in football this year and the coaches are looking forward to building up a better team next year.

Wood River vs. Marquette

Wood River played its opening game of the season against Marquette on Sept. 21. The Oilers were victorious by a 13-6 score. This game helped Coach Barton find the weak spots in his team. Encouraged by their first victory the boys looked upon the coming game with Benld with great enthusiasm.

Wood River vs. Benld

On September 28, Wood River met Benld on the latter's field. The Oilers found in Benld a tough foe and lost by a 15-0 score. Although they were defeated in their second game, Wood River led by Captain Williams played a great defensive game.

Wood River vs. Madison

The game with Madison, although not a conference game, was looked forward to as an important battle.

Captain Williams' place kick for extra point following the touchdown, measured the margin of a 7-6 victory for Wood River. Although the game was not won by a decisive margin it did prove to strengthen the team's courage.

Wood River vs. Alton

Wood River opened its conference schedule against Alton, October 12, on the latter's field. The Oilers hoped this might be their first conference victory; however, they had to be content with a 6-6 tie.

Wood River scored in the second period on a pass from Mehmken to Courtney Ford.

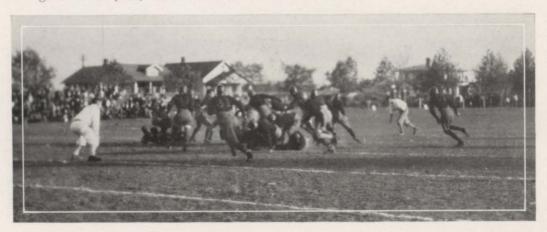

Late in the last quarter, Alton succeeded in pushing the pigskin to tie the score at 6-6.

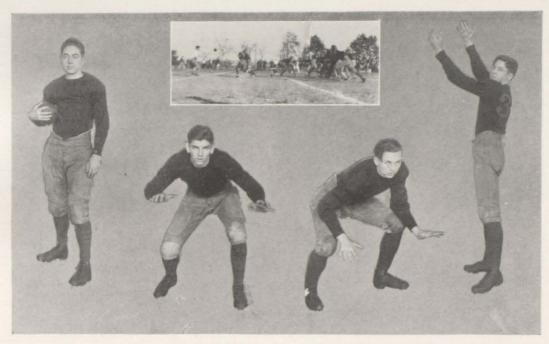

Wood River vs. Granite City

On October 26, the Oilers' territory was invaded by Granite City. Granite, smarting from a defeat in their last start, sought revenge at the hands of Wood River. The Oilers' line failed to hold and Granite won 34-0.

Wood River vs. Edwardsville

On November 2, the Oilers met the Tigers on their own field. Wood River's machine failed to function and as a result, the Tigers won, 32-0. Skundrich, playing his best game of the year, shared the honors with Solterman.

Wood River vs. Belleville

Wood River played Belleville on November 9. Belleville, with a well balanced team and a good fighting spirit, defeated Wood River by a 27-0 margin.

Wood River vs. East St. Louis

The second annual Home Coming Game was played on November 16, against East St. Louis. Wood River ran up a higher score against East Side this year than any other team in the conference. The final score was 49-13 in favor of East St. Louis. The Oilers, led by Solterman and Searcy showed a marked improvement in scoring ability.

Wood River vs. Collinsville

On November 28, in the final game of the year, Wood River lost to Collinsville 14-0. Wood River played this game without the services of their captain who was injured in the East St. Louis game. This also proved to be the last High School game for a number of the boys.

Barton's View

Of Athletic Prospects for 1930-31

E have no alibi's for the athletic record of the past year even though it is not as good as it might have been.

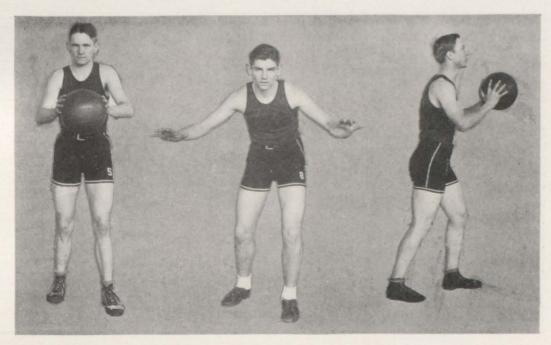

Football from the standpoint of games won was a total failure but we feel that the experience gained by the men who will be back next year is such that we will be no set up for any team. Losing but five of eighteen lettermen we will have a good group around which a team can be built that should be a credit to the school.

The basketball situation also looks quite promising even though four of the nine lettermen will not be present at roll call next winter. There is a wealth of material in the second squad which will make competition for a birth on the first string quite keen. Due to the fact that the second squad had almost as many match games as the first team the experience these men obtained will be to their advantage in a fight for a position.

By losing but one man through graduation from the track team prospects are that next year's team will be better than this year's.

The school athletics as a whole seem to be on an uphill climb and by support from those not directly connected with the school, Wood River should be able to give a good account of itself next year.

HAL BARTON, Coach.

Basket Ball 1929-1930

OOD RIVER opened their basketball season playing Livingston on December 10. The Oilers were downed in their first game by a discouraging last half which really enabled Livingston to win by one point. During the first half it looked like a sure Wood River victory but "Lady Luck" was against us and the game ended with Wood River on the short end of a 13-12 count.

On December 13, Wood River had an easy time swamping Bunker Hill 32-15. The first team figured the second string men needed a little practice so it put the local colors so far ahead in the first period that Coach Barton was able to use a grand total of nineteen men and still finish far ahead.

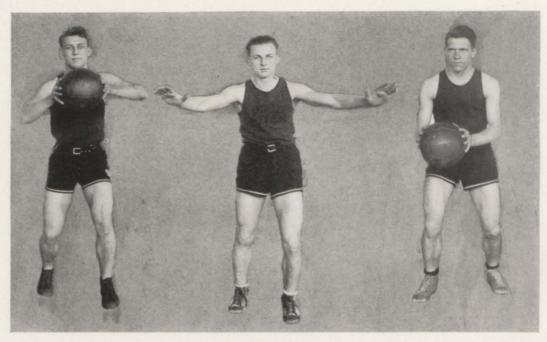

December 14, Wood River invaded Missouri to play Saint Charles. The Oilers found the going pretty tough but when the smoke cleared from the fray Wood River was on top of a 21-20 score.

The local quintet went down to defeat before Chesterfield on Dec. 16, by a 13-15 count. Wood River played hard but could not hit their stride and as a result met defeat.

On December 20, Wood River met Belleville in their opening game of the Southwestern Illinois Conference. Wood River held the lead in the early stages of the game but Belleville was not to be out done and in the last half forged ahead to win the game 13-26.

As is the custom Wood River played the Alumni team in their customary game on December 21. However the Alumni were more fortunate than in the past and won the game by a 26-18 score.

Wood River played Bethalto on January 6. Again the entire squad was given a workout and the Oilers won by a large score. The game ended 30-11 in Wood River's favor.

W. SOLTERMAN

H. SPARKS

On January 7, Madison journeyed to Wood River boasting of a fast team. The Oilers put up a great fight and had Madison in their hands until the last quarter when Madison finally won out 14-16.

Wood River played their old rivals Granite City on January 10. The Oilers completely outplayed Granite for three quarters, but allowed them to rally in the last quarter and breeze under the wire, the victor by a 31-26 score.

Alton came to Wood River on January 14. Wood River gained the upper hand early in the game and their lead was never threatened. The final score was 28-17.

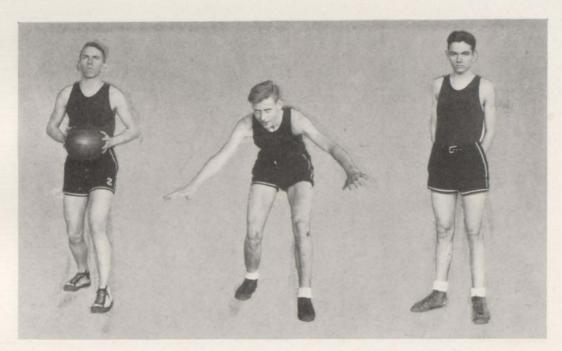

On January 16, Wood River stopped the fast stepping Tigers by a 24-12 score. The Oilers were going strong and had no trouble in downing the Edwardsville players.

Wood River lost their next two conference games bowing to East Side on January 21, in terms of 15-12 and to Collinsville on January 24 by an 18-11 count.

Wood River met Livingston in their return match on January 28. The Oilers turned the trick on Livingston winning by the same score that Livingston won in the first match. The final score was 13-12.

The local quintet again met defeat at the hands of Belleville on January 31. Wood River made a creditable showing until the last quarter when Belleville took a 28-20 lead and held it to the end of the game.

Granite invaded Wood River territory for a return match on February 7. Wood River again had Granite down and out until the last few minutes of play and again Wood River lost a well deserved vitcory in those last few minutes.

On February 8, Wood River lost their return match to Madison in a close game by a 15-13 count.

Wood River buried Alton further into last place in the conference standing by defeating them 21-13 on February 11.

The Tigers were seeking revenge for their defeat earlier in the season by the Oilers but the best they could do was take a 22-11 beating, and a drop in the percentage column.

East Side caught Wood River on an off night and had an easy time defeating them by a 20-9 count.

Collinsville journeyed to Wood River for a return match on February 21. The Kahoks again turned the trick on Wood River winning 30-18.

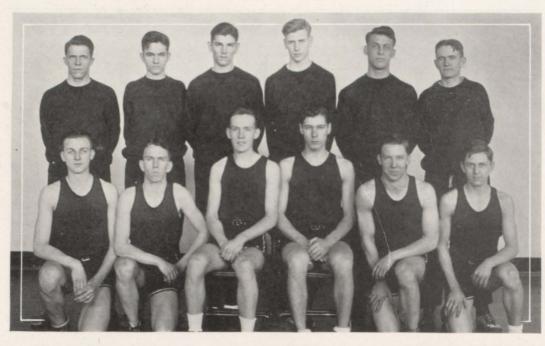

In their last home game the Oilers made "Whoopee" at the expense of Bethalto. When the evening's frolic was over Wood River went home with a 27-14 victory tucked under their belts. So ended the regular basketball season of '29-'30.

District Tournament

Wood River was entered in the District Tournament at Alton. The Oilers were considered a possible contender to represent this district for further competition in the state. Wood River won their opening game against White Hall winning in an over time period by a 14-16 count. However in their next game the Oilers were eliminated by a 21-15 defeat at the hands of Carrollton.

Second Team Results

Wood River's second team had a busy season this year entertaining the home folks when the first squad was on the road. The second string men closed the season with a record of eight victories against three defeats.

Track

1929

THE hopes for a winning track team in 1929 were high in spite of the fact that three strong men were lost from last year's team. In addition to a number of letter men, the discovery of new prospects made the Oilers a possible championship aggregation. This year in addition to a strong track team, we have a well developed field team.

In the first contest of the year, the triangular meet with Granite City and Collinsville, Wood River took eight firsts and the relay won by a margin of fifteen points over Collinsville, their close rival.

Wood River repeated its first victory by winning out in the quadrangular meet at Granite City on April 20. The Oilers gained first place with a total of 50 points, capturing six firsts, five seconds, and five thirds. Wood River finished 8 points ahead of Edwardsville, its closest rival.

In the McKendree Invitational Meet, Wood River met the best teams from Southern Illinois and Missouri. Only two men placed, Humphrey winning third in the mile and Gotler fourth in the 100 yard dash.

Wood River won the Southwestern Illinois Conference track meet at Edwardsville with a nine point lead. This was the largest margin gained by a conference team in the last three years over other teams in the conference. Wood River won six firsts, two seconds, and three thirds. Those taking firsts were: Gotler in the 100 and 220 dashes, Humphrey in the mile and half mile, Fox in the shot put, and Patterson, who tied with Shirley of Granite City, in the pole vault. Others who contributed points were Borman with a second and third, Quillen with a second and Miller with a third.

The district meet was one of the largest and fastest in this section of the state for high school competition. Over a hundred teams were entered in this meet. Wood River placed second with twenty-six points, gaining two firsts, three seconds, one third, and one fifth. Gotler was the leading point scorer with nine points. Patterson came next with five. Fox and Grayson each scored four points, followed by Humphrey with three and Quillen with one. Gotler, Patterson, Grayson, and Fox gained the right to enter the state meet at Urbana. Gotler and Patterson were the only ones to place. Patterson tied for second in the pole vault and in the draw received the second place medal; Golter received fifth in the 50 yard dash.

Wood River lost the dual meet to Western on May 29, 1929 by a large score. Although Wood River was "doped" to lose they showed excellent spirit and fight. Borman topped the scorers for Wood River with eight points, followed by Gotler and Humphrey with six points each. Patterson and Fox came next, each gaining five points. Other point getters were Reynolds two, Quillen, Miller, and Hurley, one each.

The track season of 1929 proved to be a great success for Wood River. The Oilers made a grand total of 2103/4 points for the season. This fact alone marks the 1929 season as one of the most successful in the history of the school. Besides the numerous medals won by the members of the team, Wood River was awarded a bronze shield for winning the championship in the Southwestern Illinois High School Conference. Along with the shield, Wood River was awarded the large traveling trophy for the season of 1929.

1930

On April 19, Wood River journeyed to Edwardsville to engage the Tigers in a dual meet. Edwardsville was favored to nose the Oilers out but the dope failed and Wood River came out the winner.

Taking undisputed firsts in five events and tying the Tigers in two, then making slams in the two distance races and placing more than half the seconds and thirds, Wood River easily defeated Edwardsville by the high score of 69-44. Borman topped the individual scoring with 20 points. Searcy came second with 15 points.

On Saturday, May 3, Wood River sponsored a Quadrangular meet between Granite, Wood River, Edwardsville, and Alton. In this meet the Oilers found competition much stronger and had to be content with second place in team standings, losing to Edwardsville whom we had beaten in a dual meet earlier in the season. The points of Wood River were split by the other two teams. Edwardsville took first with 57 points, Wood River second with 26 points, Alton third with 16 points, and Granite City fourth with 14 points.

At the district meet at McKendree we had only one to qualify for the State Meet. Lavier Humphrey won second in the 880, Borman third in the 440, and Filardo fifth in the mile.

The Conference track meet at Edwardsville on Saturday, May 24, closed the 1930 season for the Oilers. Although we did not win the meet, we showed up very commendably, taking 18 points when only 31 was needed to win the meet. Humphrey was the outstanding contestant from Wood River taking first in the mile and second in the 880. Borman took second in the 440 and third in the 220. Vanmeter came through for a second place in javelin and Filardo took third in the mile.

The meet was a very interesting one as there were four teams that were within two points of each other when the relay was called. Collinsville stepped out to win the relay and Edwardsville finished second in the relay to place second in the meet while East St. Louis took third. The traveling trophy is again left in circulation.

Baseball 1929

THE baseball team began practice with the close of the basketball season. This year's team was under the direction of Mr. Gossard. Great enthusiasm was worked up and hope was high that Wood River might have a winning team. Those who did outstanding work this season were Malson, Walters, Henkhaus, Skundrich, Hannold, and Witthofft.

On April 12, Wood River opened its baseball season by losing to Benld 6-1. Wood River had a hard time getting started, but once started gave Benld a hard fight.

Wood River opened their conference schedule against East St. Louis on April 19. Both teams were about evenly matched and the game was closely fought throughout. East Side finally won out in the tenth inning by a 6-4 margin.

On April 26, Wood River journeyed to Belleville. Seeking revenge for their first conference defeat the Oilers gave Belleville a set back in the conference standings. Wood River won out in the tenth inning by 6-5 score.

Wood River played Collinsville on May 3. Collinsville started out with a rush and gained a seven run lead in the first inning. However they were able to score but one run in the last eight innings. Wood River rallied late in the game but was unable to pass Collinsville's lead and lost, 8-5.

On May 10, Wood River journeyed to Alton. Wood River took an early lead and it looked like a sure victory for the Oilers. However, Alton started a rally that proved too much for the Oilers and they won by a 12-7 score.

May 17 found Granite City invading the Oilers' territory. Granite was seeking revenge for their double defeat of last year by the Wood River nine. Granite had things in their own hands and when the game was over Granite had chalked up a 10-2 victory.

Wood River played their last game on May 24, against Marquette. The Oilers repeated victory of last year and defeated Marquette, 6-2.

Results of the 1929 Season

DATE	OPPONENT	VICTOR	SCORE
April 12	Benld	They	6-1
April 19	East St. Louis	They	6-4
April 26	Belleville	We	6-5
May 3	Collinsville	They	8-5
May 10	Alton	They	12-7
May 17	Granite City	They	10-2
May 24	Marquette	We	6-2

Tennis

1929

TENNIS this year seems to be more popular than in the past. Both boys and girls have shown a great interest for the game. This year's teams are being coached by Mr. Stadtman and practices have been conducted in the gym. The girls representing Wood River in doubles were Vera McMillan and Gladys Esterlein, in the singles Blanche Bond. The boys' team in doubles was composed of R. Rothen and R. Borman, R. West playing in the singles. Although this year's team did not place in the conference they did make it a hard fight throughout.

1930

Great enthusiasm is being shown in Tennis this season. In spite of the fact that enthusiasts are handicapped by lack of a school court they have been turning out regularly for practices. Boys' tennis this year is being coached by Mr. Hopper. Mr. Hopper has been working very hard with his teams and it is hoped that Tennis will become a popular sport in our school. The following boys are members of the Tennis squad: R. Rothen, R. Eckman, B. Jones, S. Webber, F. Hendrickson, C. Shook and A. Moore.

The girls' team is coached by Miss Hoffman. Members of the girls' teams are as follows: Singles, Gladys Esterlein and Doris Howe; doubles, Norma Fisher, Harriet Perry, Vera McMillan and Gladys Esterlein.

Although the Oilers, by the time the Echo goes to press, have failed to win but one match in conference games, their playing has been much better than the scores indicate.

At Madison the Oilers won the singles by a 6-3, 6-4 score. Madison won the doubles 6-4, 6-3, and 6-2.

East St. Louis boys team won the singles by a 6-0 and 6-2 count and the doubles by 6-0 and 6-2.

Belleville also won the boys singles by the scores of 6-1 and 6-0 and the doubles 8-6 and 6-0.

Alton boys' team was the victor in the singles 6-2 and 6-2 and in the doubles 6-2 and 6-3.

The girls' matches resulted in Collinsville's winning the singles 6-1 and 7-5. In the doubles Collinsville won 7-5 and 6-2.

East Side girls also won the match between the Oilers and East Side by a score of 6-4 and 6-3 in the doubles and 6-2, 6-3 in the singles.

In the last tilts played to date, Granite succeeded in winning singles and doubles in both the boys and girls matches.

THE Dramatic Club, whose purpose is to encourage dramatic activities in the high school was organized again this year with Miss Poos as sponsor. Twenty-two new members being initiated in the fall made a total of forty-one. The Club, sponsoring the program for Home Coming, presented the one-act play "The Rest Cure," for Christmas "The Beau of Bath," for a special program "No Men Wanted."

On April ninth the club sponsored its third annual contest, this year orations being added. From the twenty-three appearing in the preliminary contest five girls were chosen for readings and three boys for orations. The winners of the contest held on April ninth, were Evelyn Guker for dramatic readings, Berland Paul for orations, and Dorothy Gerson for humorous readings. As representatives of the school in the sub-district state contest at Staunton, April 12, Evelyn Guker won second place, entitling her to compete in the district contest at Normal, Illinois; and Berland Paul won third place in orations. The points thus gained tied Wood River for third place as winners of the intellectual meet. As a fitting climax for the year's activities the Dramatic Club chartered a bus to St. Louis, where twenty-six members of the club and friends saw Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" presented in the Toy Theater by advanced students of the Morse School of Expression.

THE Semper Paratus Club, organized six years ago, was continued this year with its usual enthusiasm. This Latin Club is an honorary society. Only those are eligible who have maintained an average of 80 for one semester. The purpose of this club is two fold: to encourage interest in the life and customs of the Roman; and to further friendship between Members.

Two pledgings and two initiations were held as usual this year at which times some forty new members were added to the club. The Spring initiation was especially novel as it was held near cemetery hill where thirty trembling freshmen were initiated into the secret rites of "Semper Paratus."

Other interesting features of the year included a play "Cicero Candidatus" given by the first semester Cicero Class, a Saturnalia party December 17, and the program in celebration of Vergil's 2000th anniversary on April 11. This last feature was an unusual event for several reasons: this is the first year "Vergil" has had a place in our High School curriculum; second, never before has the world as a whole sponsored so large a celebration in honor of an ancient poet's birthday; third, because an unusually large number of club members participated. The club was glad to join with other Latin clubs in celebration the world over in presenting a play "Very Tragical Mirth," a debate "Resolved that Aeneas was Justified in Leaving Carthage," and a talk on Vergil's life and works.

THE Home Economics Club was organized several years ago under the supervision of Miss Darling. To be eligible to join the club it is necessary to have had one semester of some Economic subject.

Meetings are held regularly once a month in the Home Economic Room: one meeting consisting of a business session followed by a program held during the fifth period, the following meeting, held in the evening with a short program and social hour.

The purposes of the club are to form a connecting link between home and school; to train girls to be active and efficient leaders in home and community life; and to furnish an opportunity through organization for social life. The club joined the state and national Home Economics Associations this year and received pins for each association.

A candle ceremony was used in initiation of the first new members this year. Different colored candles standing for the policies of the club were used.

At Homecoming we were asked to take charge of the cafeteria. By serving hot dogs, chili, and light refreshments we were able to help swell the funds of the Echo Staff. The next project of the Club was to serve one hundred and sixty people at the White Star Banquet. Early in March the club sponsored a general assembly program, entertaining the girls of the student body and the lady faculty members by a fashion show.

The Echo Staff

FEW are the people who realize what it means for a group of High School students to assume all the responsibilities of putting out the school's year book. Many business men of experience and known ability quail before the prospect of putting out even a catalogue or advertising pamphlet. There is such a variety of things that have to be done, all of which must be done just right, that it is easy for many matters of small detail to slip—which of course mars the perfectness of the publication. For students to do, and do well, such tasks is a thing worthy of favorable comment, both for the students who accomplish the task, and for the school that prompts it and backs it. It is a yearly achievement of which both students and school officials may be justly proud.

An Annual Staff is divided into two main branches. One is the Editorial Staff; the other is the Business Staff. The Editorial Staff is mainly responsible for the organization of the book and for the quantity and the quality of the "copy." Each member of our Editorial Staff has been a faithful and hard worker. tance in the machine and worthy of special mention. However chief credit for the Editorial success must go to the Editor-in-chief, Wilson DeLong. He has conscientiously and splendidly planned and directed the work of his staff. More than that he has been a valuable assistant, during his spare moments, in the work of the Business Organization.

The work of the Business Staff is to see that money is forth coming with which to pay the bills incurred by the editing department. To accomplish that is not so easily done as said. Advertising campaigns, circulation drives, and special projects have been resorted to in order that the business department might meet its obligations. Its success has been complete. Here, likewise, each member has been indispensable and worthy of special recognition. Through it all, though, the ability and personality of the Business Manager, Earl Fairbanks, has been the outstanding factor.

It is with a free conscience that we write these words of praise for it truly has been a pleasurable experience for us to work with such a splendid group of students.

High School Orchestra

THE Community High School Orchestra, under the leadership of Principal Chas. C. Stadtman has been making its regular contribution to the musical interests of the school. Consisting of thirty-two members most of whom were affiliated with the organization last year, a steady improvement has been affected both in the spirit of loyalty to high ideals and in ability to play creditably a good class of music.

The orchestra this year set out to give three concerts in the assembly. At each of these the attitude of the student body revealed the fact that the orchestra has led the pupils to an appreciation of the better type of music. Exchange concerts have been held between the Granite City High School, the Madison High School, and the St. Charles, Missouri High School. These have had a tendency to create interest in music and at the same time have enabled the student body to make comparisons between schools in respect to orchestral accomplishments.

Success in the State Contest was not so great this year as it was last year when Wood River won the State Championship. This year the best that could be attained was second place in the sub-district and third in the semi-finals. In all fairness to the organization it must be mentioned that competition was much keener this season and at the same time the music selected by the Wood River orchestra was far more difficult than any selected by the competitors.

The orchestra made a contribution of two members to the State Orchestra which furnished music at the meeting of the State Teachers' Association held in East St. Louis this spring. Robert Rothen represented us as Flutist, and Lou-Nelle Miller as violinist.

High School Band

THE Community High School Band consisting of twenty-one members is essential to the school spirit which centers around the athletic activities of the school. Though a comparatively small organization it has won its place through functioning where no other organization could. During the Football season the band gives concerts in various parts of town for the purpose of creating interest and advertising the games. At homecoming the band played an important part in the coronation of the harvest queen. At pep meetings, assemblies, on the street, in the gymnasium, and on the gridiron the strains from the band greet those assembled and aid in that inspiration which is so essential to successful school activities.

Because of its limited instrumentation and because the band members are also members of the orchestra, the organization has never participated in a state or district contest. It has furnished music away from home at some of the most important football contests and in each instance received favorable comment on the splendid music it produced.

The Wood River High School Athletic Association

President Vice-President Secretary-Treasurer ALDEN McCredie Walter Wittofft Catherine Boschert

THE Athletic Association which was organized last year for the first time was again organized this year under the leadership of Miss Helm. Over two hundred and seventy-five students were taken into this organization.

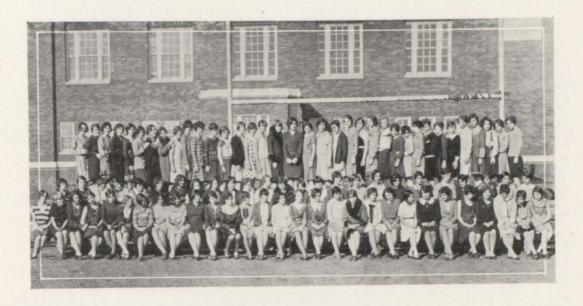

The purpose of this organization was to promote the athletic activities of the school; to encourage good sportsmanship on and off the athletic field, and to develop a spirit of good fellowship within the student body.

Most of the meetings this year were call meetings, usually held just before a game.

During the football season the members of the association were divided into three groups for the purpose of seeing which group could sell the most tickets. Splendid work was done by the groups as a good attendance was had at all the games.

The association chose four of its members to be the cheer leaders for the school. The persons chosen were: Catherine Boschert, Mildred Ford, Merle Hunt, and Louis Camp.

The social side of this organization was satisfactorily cared for. Three very interesting parties were given, in which all members were given a chance to show a spirit of good fellowship and have a good time.

Girls' Athletic Association

President Vice-President Secretary Treasurer Sponsor HARRIET WEDIG VERA MCMILLEN MILDRED DEMPSEY GLADYS ESTERLEIN MISS HOFFMAN

THE Girls' Athletic Association was organized this year under the leadership of Miss Hoffman. The purpose of the association is to promote good fellowship, sportsmanship, and friendliness among the girls, and to arouse a greater interest in girls' athletics. The meetings are held the first and third Monday of each month.

The first activity was Volley Ball. At the close of the eight weeks practice, a tournament was held in which girls of the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes participated. The Seniors won the tournament.

Our next activity was Basketball, which aroused as much, if not more enthusiasm than Volley Ball. The girls practiced faithfully twice a week for a period of eight weeks.

The spring sports consisted of track, tennis and baseball.

Each year ten girls of the association chaperoned by the sponsor meet with girls of other schools on "Play Day." On "Play Day" girls from the various schools of the association meet and enjoy a day of clean sports. These "Play Days" are held in the fall and spring at different schools.

The girls went on many social outings. The first social gathering was a weiner roast when the girls hiked to Cemetery Hill with Miss Hoffman and Miss Poos as chaperons. Another weiner roast was held in March, the girls hiking to Cemetery Hill again. The hike was given in honor of the girls who had received one hundred and fifty points by participation in various sports. The girls also went on a breakfast hike and had much fun.

This new organization has been very successful, and it is the hope of all the girls that its success will continue to grow in the succeeding years.

The Will to Work

(A Word from The Principal)

THE matter of successful living today has resolved itself into a proposition of will-ingness to produce. The day of merely consuming what nature or chance has provided is past. The soil of the fields will of itself no longer produce the necessities of life without the diligent touch of man's hand in the tilling. The beasts of the field, the fowls of the air, and the fishes of the stream cannot supply the bare requirements of the human body. Man can no longer exist by idly standing by and accepting what providence has handed down to him in the matter of accumulated wealth. Conditions have been altered so that it is vitally necessary to conserve and improve upon past heritage if one is to live in even moderate comfort.

This change has been brought about through natural means. A steady increase in population has consumed the resources of the world as they are naturally produced. The ingenuity of man has been called upon to provide by producing in an artificial way that which formerly was secured through natural means. This demand has increased his ability to do things. Inventive genius, while lightening the load upon the shoulders of the common working man, has taxed more heavily his initiative. No longer will mere endowment of physical strength or mental power suffice to assure man even a decent living. The minimum essentials for a bare existence depends almost entirely on one's willingness to produce.

The truth of this statement can be shown by a few observations in the social life of today. The merchant no longer survives by merely having on display the commodities of life at the lowest possible price. If he is to be successful, he must combine with that a quality of product arrived at through a careful study of human needs and a spirit of service which surpasses even monetary income. The fact that a lawyer, doctor, or dentist has hung out a "shingle" announcing his profession is no longer a guarantee of a livelihood. He must render by careful thought and application, based upon acquired knowledge, a true service to humanity. The teacher can no longer rely entirely upon educational preparation and a winning personality for a successful career; she too must produce by a careful study of human nature and suitable methods of instruction if she is to go forward in her chosen profession. Even the movie star, who was able through natural endowment to entertain the masses, has been compelled to display something more than mere beauty of form and face in order to meet the demands of an improved theater.

Yes, this is an age of production. The young man of today cannot afford to let his youth pass by without acquiring habits of industry and perserverance to aid in copeing with the problems of the future which are sure to be many. He must learn right now that the acquiring of an education in a high school, college, or university is in itself no guarantee of professional, business, or social success. He must know that the graduate engineers, doctors, lawyers, teachers, etc., of today are compelled to accept a mere pittance for their services until they have proved themselves to be producers animated by an unadulterated willingness to work.

He must learn also that this is a changing world; that what is good today is cast into discard tomorrow. The labor which will suffice for a livelihood today may not and likely will not provide the barest of necessities in the near future. The swiftness with which we are living is bound eventually to destroy the thrills which dominate the masses today. Then, he will be truly happy who through the acquisition of an education for service, has acquired a willingness to work and utilize his time in the production of things worthwhile.

Features

Second Annual Home Coming

THE second Annual Home Coming sponsored by the Echo Staff was held on Saturday, November 16. Weeks of preparation preceded this event: hundreds of letters were sent inviting the Alumni to return to their Alma Mater; huge posters announced to the community the coming events; the manual training shop was turned into a Home Coming laboratory where mysterious features were evolved; excitement over the game, carnival and return of friends would have done credit to a university Home Coming.

Activities were started with a parade of the entire school on Friday at 3 P.M. Not even a circus could have called forth more spectators to behold in wonder the band resplendent in their new maroon and gold uniforms, the cheer leaders in fighting togs, the floats featuring East Side and Wood River on the grid in battle array, the old-fashioned buggy with hay hanging out the back and a sign declaring East Side a back number, the "Cocoanuts" on the tandem; the early inhabitants of Wood River trudging along with their baskets of groceries, dressed in trailing gingham; the smiling fair-haired mascot in the red wagon drawn by a goat, the coffin carrying the remains of East Side, and the clowns making merry with the bystanders. A halt down town for a group of yells brought the rest of the shoppers and clerks from the stores to see what was happening in Wood River. After circling the business district the parade returned to the High School where snapshots were frantically taken before costumes should be removed and floats disbanded.

A second parade was held on Saturday before the game. Decorated cars and a truck carrying the band and posters advertising the game paraded over the city. At 2:30 the great game began. The chill in the air made heavy demands on hot dogs and candy, but did little to cool the enthusiasm of the rooters. The football bleachers were crowded with noisy rooters all eager to buy a bright colored balloon, horn, or squawker from the pretty venders who were everywhere throughout the crowd. Most of the attention of the rooters was taken up with the game that filled the expectations of those who craved a thrill. The loss of a hard fought game was soon forgotten in the carnival that followed.

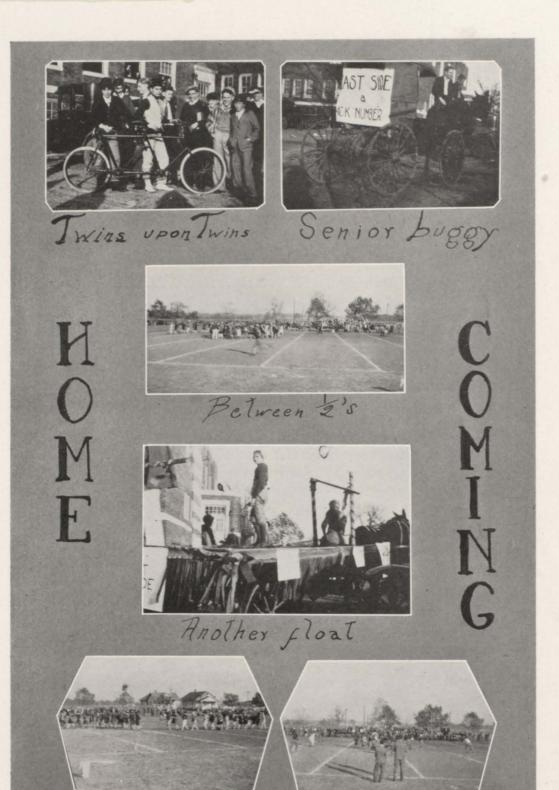

Early in the evening the crowds began to gather in the basement of the High School ablaze with maroon and gold colors, balloons, and beautifully decorated stands. There were houses of wonder to tempt the curious, a wild man to interest the daring, side shows to invite the weary to a seat and pleasant program. The baby racks attracted the lovers of sport, and the fish pond became fascinating to those who wished tangible returns for their nickles. The traditional fortune telling booths were three strong and busy enough to justify twice that number. Excitement, noise and color did all necessary to carry out the carnival spirit.

At nine o'clock the basement crowd began to drift to the auditorium where promises of "lots doing" now drew the crowd. The program opened with a one act play, "The Rest Cure." This play depicted the trials of a "highly nervous man" who attempted to find rest in the best room of an exclusive hospital. The entertainment and annoyances of many guests and hospital attendants drove him in desperation to attempt an escape. The roles were as follows:

Throughout the evening a contest for Harvest Queen had been in progress and much money had been spent to get the favorite girl elected. At last it was time for the crowning of the new Harvest queen. In a long ceremony in which Bernice Woods, queen of last year retired from her throne, and four maids of honor were slowly but impressively ushered in, the audience waited in breathless expectation for the winner of the contest, Marie Bauer, who was declared the new queen for the coming year. The maids of honor were Virginia Duval, Mae Louise Isaminger, Ailene Marks and Ethel Rowson. Each maid of honor carried bouquets in harvest colors and was attended by an escort. The queen herself wore a long train and a jeweled crown; she carried a large bouquet of roses. The stage was lovely with its balanced group around the throne in color scheme and in its floral decoration.

Home Coming was acclaimed a real success both in interest and financially. The school looks forward with anticipation to the Home Comings to follow.

A. A. Hallowe'en Party

On Tuesday, October 29, the gymnasium was filled with a strange assortment of clowns, gypsies, old men and various other undescribable characters, when about two hundred of the members of the Athletic Association gathered for a Hallowe'en party.

Early in the evening the crowd participated in a grand march, during which Mr. Haskins and Mr. Hussong selected a group of the persons having the best looking and most comical costumes. From among these Norma Fisher and Catherine Boschert were judged the best looking and Harold Vaughn and Clement James the funniest.

After the general unmasking, which brought many surprises, dancing was enjoyed for the rest of the evening wth music furnished by the Rhythm Queens of Alton. After refreshments of cocoa, sandwiches, and apples had been served in the cafeteria, the hilarious evening was brought to a close.

Latin Club Initiation

Thursday evening, November 9, the Latin Club initiated fifteen new members into the club. The pledges gathered in Miss Hicks' room at the beginning of the evening where they were kept in silence. One by one the pledges were blindfolded and led through Hades. From there they were brought to the basement club room and there were questioned concerning their knowledge of Latin. When all the pledges had reached the club room the Priestess of Appolo appeared and rebuked them for presuming to join the Semper Paratus Club with only a slight knowledge of Latin. At the end of her tirade the three Fates appeared and gave a more lenient decree for the pledges. A social hour, followed by refreshments, was held.

Dramatic Club Initiation

Dressed, as they had been told in scrolls which they had received, about twenty new members gathered in the cafeteria to be initiated into the Dramatic Club. First they were blindfolded and led through the building. It was a very comical sight as the group with much screaming and shrieking was literally dragged through the familiar halls by the old members. At last they were taken to the cafeteria where each new member gave a stunt in keeping with his costume.

Then they were taken to the Dramatic Club room where they were told about the man whom the club had killed. After they had seen the ghost and were thoroughly subdued they were taken to the president where they paid their dues and took the oath, thereby becoming full pledged members of the club.

A business meeting of the entire club was then held in which the new constitution was read and accepted and plans were made for the Christmas program. Then the whole crowd betook themselves to the cafeteria where delightful refreshments were served.

Home Economics Club Initiation

About fifteen new members were initiated into the H. E. C. on Monday, November 3, with a very impressive candle lighting ceremony. Anne Weston, as the spirit of Home Economics explained the purposes and aims of home economics and Catherine Boschert, the president of the club, gave the oath to each member.

After the ceremony a social hour in which Hallowe'en games were played was very much enjoyed. Refreshments in keeping with Hallowe'en were served by the officers.

Athletic Association Party

On Tuesday evening, December 17, group C of the Athletic Association, having come out winner in the football ticket selling contest, was entertained by groups A and B of the association in the High School Gym. Dancing was done to popular tunes played by the "Rhythm Queens." Those who did not care to dance played Bunco and Rumme for which card tables were provided. At 10 p.m. refreshments of ice cream and cake were served in the cafeteria.

Christmas Program

Friday, December 21, a Christmas program sponsored by the Dramatic Club was presented before the assembly. The program was as follows: a talk on the history of Christmas—Ora Lewis; a reading "Christmas Dinner on the Wing"—Marjorie Apple; a story "A Christmas Carol," Dickens—Anne Weston; a play "The Beau of Bath" with Richard Smithson as the Beau, Harriet Perry as Rosamond, and Vincent Vanmeter as Jepson; and music by the orchestra. Then followed the singing of Christmas carols by the assembly accompanied by the orchestra.

"A Prince There Was"

The Senior play of the January Class of 1930 was a delightful comedy in three acts. The rich young man masquerading as a poor one played by Fred Isaminger and the rich young lady (Harriet Wedig) doing the same thing met at a boarding house and when the play ended they decided to live happily ever after.

Senior Reception

The first reception for the Seniors was given in the gym by the Juniors January 21, 1930. The guests were received at the door by the officers of the Junior class and then dance programs were distributed and filled out.

During the intermission the following program was given:

WelcomeEthel Henson
Response
Vocal Selections
Toast to Seniors Miss Hart
Talk to Seniors
Saxaphone Solo

Then the curtains were drawn aside revealing the long table decorated with lighted tapers and flowers, and set with a two course buffet supper. After the refreshments more dancing was enjoyed.

Third Annual Dramatic Club Declamatory Contest

The Dramatic Club again sponsored a declamatory contest this year. A preliminary tryout was held at which time eight contestants were chosen. These contestants were then coached by the Dramatic Club sponsor, Miss Poos, and on the evening of April 8, the contest was held in the high school auditorium. The following numbers were given:

Junior Night

The annual Junior Night was observed March 11, 1930, with an entertaining program. The program consisted of four one-act plays and music by a girl's chorus and the junior orchestra and a flute solo by Robert Rothen.

The first little sketch was "Do You Believe in Luck" in which the characters were:

Jane Bradford	Gladys Esterlein
Peggy Crandom
Jimmy Crandom	Joe Magurany
Marigold Alice
Newsboy	D. M. Lyon
Mrs. Crandom	Ruth LaTempt
Professor Livingston	Orval Hoekstra
Miss Penelope Crandom	Lucille Heuer
Mrs. Jones	. Dorothy Cantrell
Sophy Jones	Mildred Weber
Ned Brown	Frank Hendrickson
Bob Davis	Richard Smithson

The second playlet was "The Worm Turns" in which Kieth Bauer demonstrated the actions of a model husband.

The Characters

Mr. John Meek Kieth Bau	er
Mrs. Beth Meek Lillian Weigar	nd
Mr. Otto B. Smart Thomas Turp	in
Mechanical Nurse	st

Landon Rhodes and Kathryn Watson had the usual guarrel sometime between midnight and dawn in "On the Way Home."

In "An Old Magazine," Harriet Perry and Iva Williams as flappers and Ula Clayton as their old-fashioned grandmother showed how times have changed in song and dance.

Lyceum Course

During the year a series of very interesting lyceum numbers were given. They were as follows:

Oct. 4—Vladimir Lenski. Oct. 25—Alexander Novelty Co.

Nov. 18-Robert Morning star.

Dec. 6—Tamburitza Serenaders. Jan. 10—Cavery Duo.

Jan. 31—Capt. James Sawders.

Feb. 24—Lombard Duo.

Mar. 6-Dr. P. H. Epler.

Apr. 8-New England Choir.

Apr. 25—Jessie Roe Taylor.

An outstanding program among these was the Caveny Duo presenting a program of music and art including modeling in clay and cartooning. The Tamburitza Serenaders played original selections on musical instruments of their native country and also on the Tamburitza which has been developed by their leader.

Ye Olde New England Choir was another outstanding number. The members gave characteristic songs of each period in American history, in appropriate costume, starting with the Puritan's church in 1600.

Perhaps the most entertaining of all was Miss Jessie Roe Taylor's quick changes from one character to another. Each character seemed to be a real and entirely different person. The character of Grandpa was very much enjoyed, especially his solo, "I Ain't as Young as I Used to Be."

First Physical Education Exhibition

OF THE

E. A.W. R. C. H. S.

The first physical education exhibition was given in the high school auditorium Wednesday, April 31. The following program was presented:

Orchestra
(a) Overture "Poet and Peasant"	Suppe
(b) Hungarian Dance No. 5	. Brahms
Swanee (Tap Dance)	Girls
Calisthenics and Marching	Girls
Marching
Virginia Reel	Girls
Gymnastic Dancing
Bleking ]
Swedish Folk Dances	Girls
Tantoli J
Butterfly Dance
Calisthenics
Sleigh Bells (Tap Dance)
Minuet
Games
Sailor Horn Pipe
Special Clog Number
Pyramids	Boys

The group numbers were an exact representation of the regular class work in physical education with the exception of the orchestra accompaniment and, in several cases, the costumes. The girls in the Minuet were dressed in old fashioned costumes and those in the Butterfly dance were dressed in pastel colored costumes. The games played by the boys in clown suits were very much enjoyed by the boys as well as the audience. Another costume number was given by girls in sailor costumes, who performed the Sailor's Horn Pipe. The last number on the program was an interesting demonstration of pyramid building by the boys. The program was brought to a close when a pistol was shot and the pyramid fell down in a heap.

Wood River's Winning Teams

There have been many activities that Wood River High has entered teams in this year outside of athletics.

The orchestra won second place in the district meet at Staunton on April 12 which entitled them to go to the state division meet at Bloomington May 3, where they won third place.

The commercial department entered teams in the district meet at Alton in which they placed and entitled them to enter the sectional meet at Staunton in which teams and individuals placed in most of the events and then went to the state meet at Bloomington.

At Alton, Wood River won five firsts and one second. The Bookkeeping team consisting of Merle Price, Wilson DeLong, and Gilbert Cobbel won first and Merle as individual won second. The Shorthand team consisting of Mildred Weber, Ula Clayton, and Anne Weston won first place in the 60 word contest and Mildred as individual took first also. In Typing also the team consisting of Dorothy Corrigan, Wanda Coultas, Margaret Fox, and Joe Maguarany took first and the individual, Dorothy Corrigan won first.

At the sectional meet the individual Bookkeeping entry took first while the team placed second. The individual and team both took second places in Shorthand. The Typing team won second and the individual placed third losing second place by one-tenth of a point and first by four-tenths of a point.

At the state meet the Bookkeeping team placed second and brought home a large cup. The individual Bookkeeping entry won fifth and brought home a medal. Merle Price entered in the three minute open event in Typing and placed seventh.

HERE'S TO OUR CLASS

Now here's a class full four years old Made up of pirates bad and bold Yes bad and bold-but mostly bold-Of their brave deeds I've oft been told. Of course you've heard of Prexy Bob? As a runner too, he knows his job. And then there's Vincent, Clever chap, In running or speaking he's no sap! We mustn't miss our editor "Preach," And Helen who thinks him quite a peach. There's Sonny Fairbanks our business king, He knows his ads despite his fling. Norma and Ethel we couldn't forget, Leading ladies in our pirate set. There are Mildred and Harold who won their way

Into good parts of our Senior play.

I wouldn't stop without a mention
Of Merle, LaRue, Dot, Oma, and Madlyn,
Adams, Shook, and McCredie, three,
Who complete the cast of our brigandry.
This is merely a start on our pirate crew
There are sailors and pirates not a few.
Grace and Durre; Mabel and Marks,
Lucille, and Catherine who is found of Sparks.

Franklin and Suessen and Hazel, say, There's Lucien, Phil and Ella Mae. Anne, our social Editor, too; Hilma and Opal, pals true blue. Muriel, our tapper, knows her feet, Bauer and Bauer are hard to beat! Vivian, our blond, that men prefer, Hunt the man whose heart they stir. Rita, Marie, Josephine Alice and Slater, pretty keen! Cobbel and Poag, the silent scamps! Malson and Jones the noisy champs. Mary, Dwight and Skundrich-Look! This is the end of our Pirate book, Pirates all, with knives in their teeth, For treasure or plans they take the wreath.

Father: "Son, what does this 65 in Chemistry mean?"

Son: "Oh, that was the temperature of the room."

The moon does funny things
Makes us fall in love
Makes a man see romance
In a maiden's glove
Makes a fellow kiss a girl
Makes the girl expect it
Did you ever see a girl offered one, reject it?

THRIFT

I've given my heart
And my mind and my tears—
A generous part—
Quite a number of years.
With loving I may
Be exceedingly rash,
But I've never given away
Any cash.

SOME DAY

I think some day we'll meet again, By then you may be gray, And I'll have lost the slenderness That made you glance my way. But you will ask me out to tea, And we shall sit and chat Of automobiles, politics, And love, and this and that, And when I see the stocks and bonds And lands that are your due, I'll probably yawn and tell myself I should have married you!

"George was almost drowned last night."

"No! How come?"

"The pillow slipped, the bed spread, and he fell into the spring."

"I stubbed my toe against the piano last night but it didn't hurt me."

"Why not?"

"Struck the soft pedal, I suppose."

Barber: "Your hair is getting quite gray."

Teacher: "I'm not surprised, hurry up."

TO THE TRUE

THE TALE OF TWO KIDDIES

It was raining, the sun was shining, the sky was full of clouds, the heavens were clear and bright, Caggy was storming; Harley was as calm as a bright June morning. In short things didn't seem quite right—especially to Caggy.

"I saw you draped over that radiator talking to Dot—and what's more the principal told you not to!!!"

"You had no objections the other day when I was 'draped' over your locker door!"

"Anyhow you needn't expect your fourth hour note, so there!"

"Gee but you look cute when you're mad!"

No answer.

"I said you sure look cute when you're mad."

"Come on then-there's the bell-I can't stay mad at you."

FOURTH HOUR

"Harley, Harley—wait a minute—no—run on and save me a place in the line." One sixteenth of a second later.

"Come on quick before they see you slip in."

"What you goin' eat today? What's on the plate lunch? The meat looks good—but gee—spinach. Oh, well, plate for me—and some banana pie."

"I'll take chilli and orange pop—gimme a frozen milky way—come on over here to this table."

"Got your Latin?"

"No, have you?"

"What did you do last nite?"

"Wouldn't you like to know? Did we have a good time! Some orchestra! Boop-boop-a-doop!"

"I'm going on the Boat tomorrow-gee, but I can't wait."

"Who's takin' you?"

"Why-a-what you want to know for?"

"What I want to know for?? So that's how it is? All right, don't give me the old note and watch me drape the radiator all I please."

So ends the tale and romance of two high school kiddies.

"Life for me is a perfect bore," said the auger.

"I'm a little board myself," said the small plank.

"Tut, tut," cried the saw, "I go through things just as you do."

"Life's stuffed with sawdust."

"You don't stick with anything long enough to know where you are," said the Glue."

"Regular grind," growled the stone.

"I agree with you," observed the bench.

"It makes no difference how well I do my work, I am always sat upon."

"Let's strike," remarked the hammer.

Bob: Where was Garfield assassinated?

BRIEF REVIEW OF HISTORY OF WOOD RIVER

Back in the early days of the eighteenth century when the Middle West was but a hinterland to be pierced here and there by intrepid pioneers, Wood River was a site of Indian massacres, a wintering place for Lewis and Clark, and a district given over to sand burrs and timber. Indian mounds, relics of massacres found in the district, and sotries handed down from the children of early settlers indicate that Wood River valley was the scene of a part of the struggle which forms so important a part in the early history of the United States.

The Wood River region seemed to be created by the Maker for an industrial site. It was placed between the bluffs and the Mississippi River, where railroads must pass if they would avoid the hills and the river. The ground was not valuable for much else, although former owners of the land claim fine crops, which have never been seen in recent times. The water supply was abundant, the fall plentiful, and close at hand were adequate transportation facilities and a good market for oil.

In 1906 the Standard Oil Company of Indiana came to look over the field, finally purchasing seven hundred acres, most of which was then cultivation. This company now owns more than eight hundred acres here and is greatly responsible for the growth of Wood River. When the company first came, a country road had already been built through part of the land bought for the refinery site, but to avoid trespassing a new road was built around the north and east sides, which was called the Rock Road. This was the main street in the village of Wood River for many years. At that time this road and the Alton-St. Louis Road on the west side of the village were the only streets. The north railroad station was called Glasborough, and the south station was called Lewis and Clark.

According to the official 1920 census, Wood River is the fastest growing city in the United States. We are proud of this record and our city, but of nothing are we more proud than the splendid group of school buildings here erected.

Don: Here's a Chicago man in trouble for being engaged to four girls at the same time.

Chas.: Poor fellow! He can't help it. In Chicago, even Cupid uses a machine gun.

The man in the black hood stepped forward and took careful aim. Across the room the frosh sat motionless—even helpless. They didn't even raise a finger in self defense. Were they going to sit there to be shot deliberately—even without a struggle? No, they must needs strive and twist from their imaginary bonds. But the man in the black hood was equal to the occasion. He leaped forward and cried, "look at the birdie!" And they did.

To do or not to do; that was the question. Oh, those promising unexcelled pleasures to be derived from those few moments. Yet, an inner voice said "No." It told of other pleasures not attainable if this moment's desires were fulfilled. He debated with himself for several minutes but, the temptation was too strong. He would yield. The Freshman boldly stepped forward and said: "Give me a nickel's worth of jelly-beans."

CAESAR RETURNS

Caesar decides to take a look at the world. First, he wants to go to the town forum. He is about to cross the street when suddenly he hears a very funny sound, "Oooo-ga. Oooo-ga." Then a voice shouts, "Hey, you, can't cha see that signal, you horseface?"

Caesar thinks to himself, "Of all the gods of Rome, he does not know who I am." ..... "What a funny ox cart!"

"That ain't an ox cart; that's a ford," says a voice. Caesar whirls around. He stares at the man, and the man stares at him. "Say, ain't you forgotten your pants?" asks the man as he surveys Caesar's toga.

"Pants?" Caesar thinks. "What pants?" Caesar decides he had better be on his way. He now nears what he thinks is the forum. Everybody looks at him. He wonders what they see. A street car is approaching. "Clang! Clang!" Caesar begins to run for his life, but it turns up another street.

He is beginning to get a little thirsty. He walks into a store and asks for wine. "Say, listen, you can't get wine at a hardware store!" exclaims the store-keeper. Pretty soon he hears a blare of music, sees a box, picks it up, shakes it, and puts it to his ear. The store-keeper, seeing him, shouts, "Put that radio down!" Caesar goes into the street.

Again he is almost run down by a car. Weary and frightened, he hurries back to his grave.

Malinda P.: "What's that you're playing, Harriet?"

Harriet W.: "A piano, my dear, a piano."

Mr. Haskins: "What is air?"

Walt W.: "I can't think of it right now but it's in my head alright."

"And what did you think of Venice?"

"Venice? Venice? Did we go to Venice, George?"

"Don't you remember we stopped there but there was a flood on, so we didn't leave the station?"

Some of you who think you are well up in spelling just try to spell the words in this one:

"It is agreeable to witness the unparalleled ecstacy of two harassed peddlers endeavoring to gauge the symmetry of two peeled pears." Verna: "Darling! Darling!"

Harold: "Yes, my love, what is it?"

Verna: "Don't be silly, Harold. I was only calling Toto."

Cop: "Say, didn't you see that red signal?"

Fred D .: "Yes, but I didn't see you!"

Don Canady: "Say, I hear you were arrested the other day for picking up a heavy rubber band."

George Rooke: "Yeh, it turned out to be a Ford tire."

Mr. Stadtman: "Why are you late for class this morning?"

Ray Duffy: "Well, a sign down there-" Mr. Stadtman: "What has a sign got to do with it?"

Ray: "The sign said 'School Ahead-Go Slow."

ALPHABET

A is for auto, we long for all day;

B is for blushing, you'll miss it I say;

C is for classes—yes we have the rep;

D is for dandies our school has the pep;

E is for English, not heard on the street;

is for Freshmen, whose trousers we beat;

G is for graduate, hope of the few;

H is for hilarity, something quite new;

is for Incomp.—meaning your grade;

is for janitors, escapes never made;

K is for kissing, which never grows stale;

is for loving,—to win—it won't fail;

M is for money, an unheard of word;

N is for no, not a noun, not a verb;

O is for Oscar, bookishly wise;

P is for paddling, a good exercise;

Q is for quit, the word we don't know;

R is for rotten, meaning the show;

S is for singing—in showers it's a whine!

T is for track, in this sport we shine!

U is for "under" applied to tight dubs;

V is for varsity, among our night clubs;

W means women, let's know them better!

X is for ending a passionate letter;

Y is for yodeler, (he ought to be shot)

Z is for zero, which means "not so hot."

"Now, laugh these off," said the wife as she wired some buttons on her husband's vest.

"ABIE! ABIE! Come from under de shade vit your sun suit on.'

> Nashes to Nashes And Stutz to Stutz, If the Dodges don't get you The Cadillacs must.

Salesman (coming into the office): "Say, Cutie is the buyer in?" Nora: "No Smarty, but the cellar's in the basement.'

"That remains to be seen said "the one" as she gave him a big kiss."

Miss Martin: "Your recitation reminds me of Quebec.'

Merle Hunt: "How so!" Miss Martin: "It's built on a bluff."

FLOWERS FOR OSCAR

The gates were down, but Oscar Shay Decided to his sorrow To speed across the right of way.

His funeral is tomorrow.

Case: "What is the most deadly poison known?"

Case: "How much does it take to kill a person?"

Aviator: "One drop!"

It is rumored that since Walter Camp invented the daily dozen, he has been living off the fat of the land.

Flapper: "I would like to try on that vieux rose frock in the window.

Saleslady: "I'm sorry, that's a lampshade, but we would copy it for you."

Senior: "You should place your hand over your mouth when you yawn!"

Frosh: "What! And get bitten!"

Then there was the Mongolian who wore blue serge so he could save the lint to make pillows.

Did you ever stop to think what might have happened to American history if the British soldiers at Bunker Hill had had bloodshot eyes!

"I believe this school is haunted."

"Why so?"

"They're always talking about the school spirit."

WE WONDER

The ECHO

We wonder what would happen if Miss Hart would really throw someone out the window.

We wonder where Miss Walker learned the expression "Oh! Oh!"

We wonder what Miss Davis means when she says, "Taceti discipule."

We wonder why Miss Martin always says, "close your talking, please."

We wonder why Coach Barton is always growling out for students to study.

We wonder what would happen if Mr. Hussong meant what he said when he says, "separate, for the last time."

We wonder what would happen if Mr. Stadtman carried out everything he threatens.

We wonder if Miss Poos is really in earnest when she says, "I mean it, now."

We wonder how Mr. Gossard would illustrate proportions if there were not any Packards or Fords.

We wonder what would happen to Mr. Hopper if there were not any bugs.

We wonder how Miss Juhlin would get along if she lost her "Hi."

We wonder how Miss Buscher would teach Algebra if it wasn't for "just because."

He: "I'm going to buy myself a harem."

It: "What do you mean? You can't buy a harem, can you?"

He: "Sure. I saw a sign at a gas station that said: Six gals for a dollar."

Wilson: "If I kiss you, will you call for help?"

Helen: "Do you want any help?"

Wilson: "No, but I thought you might call Mother, Father, and Brother."

Helen: "Oh I see, you want to kiss the whole family."

LAST MISTAKE

Miss Darling: "Virginia, I thought I told you I wanted these eggs soft."

Viginia D.: "I boiled them for two periods, but it don't seem to make any difference."

Miss Martin (in History): "Who was it crossed the Delaware, Frank?"

Frank H. (Still under effects of a botany test): "Let me think—oh yes, Burbank!"

ON THE WAY HOME FROM SCHOOL

School's out! There is a wild rush to lockers. We're off! A few jazz-steps to the bus; others, having their own cars, are not in such a great hurry. There go a group of girls, singing snatches of popular songs, while stripes, checks, dots, and plaids—all drift or hurry by; and the boys, out for track, rush to the field for a few hours hard training.

Several blocks farther on, we see the beginners pouring out of the grade school, the patrol boys solemnly taking their posts at the street crossings. As a group of beginners rush at a break-neck speed to spend the after-school playground hours on the swings and trapezes, a band of hilarious boys run around to the opposite side of the building to play a grand game of marbles. Farther down the street we see two girls yelling "Last look" at each other before entering their homes. At the same time, a couple pass by on roller skates, taking advantage of the companionable wind.

A traffic jam! We wait at the street corner, where we see a dozen or more children crowded around the theater to read the coming attractions. A group exchanging stories, laugh over a new Scotch joke.

Next, we enter a neighborhood store to buy some notebook paper. A little girl with three pennies held carefully in her hand, comes in to spend them. Gazing with eager eyes at the array of new candles spread in the show-case before her, she, with the consultation of her companion, asks for "some o'neese, and some o'nose," and the bag is in her hand before the clerk has had time to give it to her. Outside there is a row of small boys and girls with their noses pressed hard against the window pane, their imaginations running at a high rate of speed.

In leaving, we almost bump into a serious little girl with a great armful of books. A high school student passes with one. A crack of a gun is heard, and we see the beginning of a relay at the Junior High School. Boys are taking the hurdles and pole vaulting. Out in front of the building there are girls jumping rope to the sing-song accompaniment of "Teddy Bear, Teddy Bear, turn around; Teddy Bear, Teddy Bear, touch the ground."

Last of all come the very little tots from the kindergarten, lagging far behind the others, dropping tablets and pencils. One little boy (who seems to have entirely too many clothes on for this spring weather) his shoes untied, his stockings falling down, his coat half on his sweater, his cap on the back of his head, is deeply engrossed in eating the remains of his lunch. Jelly from a sandwich mixed with the icing of a fluffy cookie makes zig-zag rivers across his face. A "Mickey McGuire," with his usual admirers following, darts across the school lot in pursuit of some enemy. Another group, seeing a little girl and boy go hand in hand, yell at the top of their lungs: "Er-rul-l, Er-rul-l's got a gurr-rll."

Another block. Here's my home, and as I say "G'Bye" to my companions, the boy next door yells, "Mom, when do we eat?"

"What is Francis Scott Key's greatest distinction?"

"He knew all four verses of the 'Star Spangled Banner.'

"Darling, you kiss like Greta Garbo." "What! Have you been two-timing me?"

"A yard of pork, please," said the witty man to the butcher.

"Give this gentleman three pig's feet," he nonchalantly remarked to his boy.

Diner: "Waiter, what kind of meat is this?"

Waiter: "Spring lamb, sir." Diner: "I tho't so! I've been chewing on one of the springs for an hour."

We wish the graduates of '30 every success and happiness

Roosevelt's Rare GIANT PANDA

Taken With Western LUBALOY Cartridges!

Up in the wilds of the Chinese-Tibetan borderland Theodore and Kermit Roosevelt finally succeeded in their difficult quest of the rare Giant Panda. So far as is known, it is the only specimen ever taken by a white man. They used the famous WESTERN Lubaloy .30-'06 cartridge with 220-grain Soft-Point bullet.

The remarkable accuracy and effectiveness of Lubaloy high-power cartridges have made them the choice of many important scientific and big game expeditions. The same kind of accuracy is available in WESTERN Lubaloy .22's. They shoot straight, hit hard and

Won't Rust Your Gun

Lubaloy .22's keep your gun as bright as new and make cleaning unnecessary!...

But more than that, the bullets are coated with shining Lubaloy that makes them gleam like "Bullets of Gold!"...Lubaloy is a lubricating alloy that does away with the coating of gummy grease, one of the objectionable features of ordinary lead-bullet.22's. Lubaloy.22's keep your hands and pockets clean. Lint and grit won't stick to them and get into your gun.

Try the accurate Lubaloy 22's and you'll never be satisfied with anything else. Available in Short's, Long's and Long Rifle.

Your Yearbook

YOUR Yearbook—what a wealth of memories is gathered within its pages! What a prized possession,—that becomes more treasured each passing day.

Its pages will always remain fresh. As you turn through them in the days to come, you will recall your teachers, your classmates and the characteristics of each; you will see the buildings and the "land-marks" on the campus; you will find yourself caught, once again, in the bustle of school activities—and you will find yourself carried back again to the old unmatchable days at school.

No other undertaking does so much to perpetuate your school days as does your Yearbook. It merits your support and loyalty to those in whose hands has been placed the responsibility for its publication.

And it merits the services of a good printer—possessing both craftsmen to produce fine printing, and a practical understanding of yearbook problems. Those who use our service say that we have both. This book, produced in our own plant, is added evidence of the Faithful Printing Service which we at Frederick's have been rendering so consistently throughout the years.

Faithful Service --- Since 1885
